 Double elimination 2 out of 3 matches in winner-side, 1 game to 7 in loser-side

 Amateur players can either join Amateur event directly or join open event instead. bottom 30% in Open qualification will join Amateur event. Qualification will be played under SWISS SYSTEM. See next page or detail.

Competition Formats

Swiss System Format

The qualification competitions will be played under the Swiss system:

- Open Doubles
- Open Singles

Qualification Format

The first two rounds are drawn at random but includes seeded players as the following :
- 25 % of teams will be protected in the first round according ITSF ranking.

For the following round, the software draws the first of the ranking against the next in the ranking who wasn't an opponent until then. (Example: 1 vs 2, 3 vs 4 and so on; if 1 vs 2 played already 1 vs 3, 2 vs 4, 5 vs 6 and so on).

At the qualification time limit, we will just finish the round to be sure all players have played the same number of matches. Number of matches played will depend on tournament progression and player performance.

We only need the winner to give his name (NOT the score) or both teams can announce a tie.

Qualification match format is one game to 7 (6:6 draw)

Ranking will be based on teams points then total points of your opponent following by total points of the opponent of your opponent. B1 stands for points of my opponent and B2 stands for points of the opponent of your opponent. If there is still a tie, we'll see the best opponent ranking that you played against.

Elimination FORMAT

100% of players will be qualified in different divisions. 70% in Pro and 30% in Amateur. The members of the highest division (Pro) play for the championship of the event, the following division plays the Amateur events.

Groups ranking will be gathered and will determine the final ITSF ranking.

Elimination match format is Single KO 3 out of 5 matches (SKO - 3/5). First to 5 per game (No 2 points difference, No deuce)
