

How players qualify for the 2018 Masters

March 28th 2018

Golden Nugget, Las Vegas, USA

2017 Sport season starts on January 1st and ends on December 31st.

This event will take every 2 years starting in 2016. It will be held during a World Championship Series and will replace a National team event.

This new single competition will see the best players compete according to the ITSF & Confederation ranking as well as winners of major ITSF World tour tournaments.

Players can qualify for the 2018 Masters in several ways:

a. Men (16 players)

- Top 3 World Championships 2017
- Winners of World Series 2017
- Top 1 of each confederation Ranking 2017
- Top ITSF 2017 Ranking players up to a maximum of 16 players in Total b.

Women (12 players)

- Top 1 World Championships 2017
- Winners of World Championship Series 2017
- Top 1 of each confederation Ranking 2017
- Top ITSF Ranking 2017 players up to a maximum of 12 players in Total

World Championships titleholders : Top 3 Men and Top 1 Women in Singles from 2017 World Championships edition are automatically qualified. There can be no substitute players for these qualified players.

“World Series” events (WS) : The winners in Open Singles and Women Singles competitions at each 2017 WS events are automatically qualified. There can be no substitute players for these qualified players.

ITSF Confederation Rankings: Players who’s accumulated the most points in its respective 2017 confederation ranking will be the Confederation Champion and as a result will qualify to compete to the Masters. If a player (male or female) who qualified through the ITSF Confederation Rankings cannot make it to the Masters, the Top 2 of this ranking can go instead. (Or Top 3 if Top 1 AND Top 2 cannot attend the event etc...)

ITSF World Rankings: Top Men and Women ITSF Ranking players will qualify for the Masters only up to a maximum of 16 Men players and 12 Women players IN TOTAL.